

Scenes from the Silicon Valley Leadership Group Forum: E-Education in California in the 21st Century

SAN JOSE – Lieutenant Governor John Garamendi was the keynote speaker at the Silicon Valley Leadership Group's forum: "E-Education in California in the 21st Century." Garamendi emphasized the need for cooperation between high tech companies and schools to help students find jobs in California's growing science and technology fields and spoke about the importance of funding education especially during an economic downturn.
